WHY CHOOSE US

- Fossilcote represents a new generation of performance antimicrobial flooring system that is based on silver in cooperation with polygiene.
  - This science is based on an amino compound that constantly emit ions of silver that kill bacteria which settle on the floor and keeps being active for the floor's lifetime.
  - Silver is a natural element that is known for its ability to purify and protect from bacterial infections – and offers an alternative and environmental friendly alternative to chemically manufactured antimicrobials.
  - We design and supply floor systems that can cope with all the rigorous of the food and drink sectors- and offer choice in the specification process to ensure the right solution for individual environments.
  - Different floor systems can offer the ability to withstand daily rigorous such as falling bottles, wheeled traffic, food spills, chemical leaks and everything else the industry throws at it.
  - Our cementitious coatings, on the other hand, is an economical exterior and interior wall finish that enhances the décor of buildings. It is resistant to fungus and algae and protects the buildings from changing weather conditions.
  - It is water based paint and easy to apply. Cement paint perks up both exterior and interior surfaces and maintains great looks of a building for very many years.
